

ROMANTIC RECONFIGURATIONS:
STUDIES IN LITERATURE AND CULTURE 1780-1850

HENRY CRABB ROBINSON

Romantic Comparatist, 1790-1811

PHILIPP HUNNEKUHL

The first comprehensive study of Henry Crabb Robinson's cross-cultural literary career and its critical importance.

www.liverpooluniversitypress.co.uk/r/romrec

This is the first book-length study of the thought and literary achievement of Henry Crabb Robinson (1775–1867). It restores the long-neglected Robinson to the central position he occupied in his own time, namely as a pioneering critic, comparatist, and literary disseminator at the crossroads of British and European Romanticism.

KEY FEATURES

- Discusses hitherto unpublished manuscripts from the Robinson archive at Dr Williams's Library.
- Offers an exciting new perspective on the ethical relevance of Robinson's comparative criticism.
- Places Robinson's writings in direct relation to canonical authors such as Wordsworth, Coleridge, Blake, Goethe and Schiller.

APRIL 2020

Hardback | 9781789621785 | £90.00 / $120.00

Ebook | 9781789627589 | £90.00 / $120.00

304 pages, 239 x 163mm, 16 B&W illustrations

Romantic Reconfigurations: Studies in Literature and Culture 1780-1850, 13

AUTHOR INFORMATION

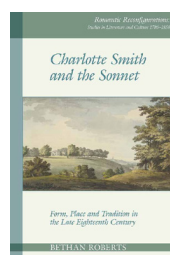

Philipp Hunnekuhl is Guest Professor of English at the University of Hamburg.

30% discount online

UK & RoW LUP30 liverpooluniversitypress.co.uk

USA ADISTA5 www.global.oup.com/academic

ALSO IN THIS SERIES

Charlotte Smith and the Sonnet

Bethan Roberts

Eighteenth-Century Women's Writing and the Methodist
Media Revolution

Andrew O. Winckles

LIVERPOOL
UNIVERSITY PRESS
FOUNDED 1899

www.liverpooluniversitypress.co.uk

 SUBSCRIBE

  FOLLOW @LIVUNIPRESS

 PUBLISH